“The paths that our heroes have blazed and the legacies they have left provide us with purpose and meaning.”

These words, spoken by Dr. Dean Tuttle at the American Printing House for the Blind in October, 2001, began the formal announcement of a venue to celebrate our heroes. The Hall of Fame for Leaders and Legends of the Blindness Field, expected to draw support from the entire profession, will be housed in a portion of the 1922 wing of the historic 1883 building of the American Printing House for the Blind in Louisville, Kentucky.
Mission Statement:
The Hall of Fame for Leaders and Legends of the Blindness Field shall be dedicated to preserving, honoring, and promoting the tradition of excellence manifested by the specific individuals inducted into the Hall of Fame and through the history of outstanding services provided to people who are blind or visually impaired.

“AER enthusiastically supports this endeavor. It’s time we honor those who have done so much, who stand as the highest examples of professionalism... By honoring them we proclaim the legitimacy and importance of our field and honor the efforts of all individuals who provide services to blind persons.”

– Billy Brookshire, President
Association for Education and Rehabilitation of the Blind and Visually Impaired

“What a wonderful and timely idea! Celebrating heroes is vital to keeping an accurate historical record of the victories and triumphs of our long and colorful past.”

– Vince Martino, Director of Canadian AER, and Linda Mamer, International AER Board Representative

“A special recognition project to honor persons who make a difference in the lives of children we represent is of special interest to us. Consider us your partner in this effort!”

– Dr. Mary Jean Sanspree, President
Council for Exceptional Children, Division on Visual Impairment
“We are a profession that, until now, has not honored its history appropriately. Many of the present generation of professionals in the blindness field have little knowledge of the giants that have gone before them. It is on the very shoulders of these giants that we depend to lead us into the future.”

– Carl Augusto, President
American Foundation for the Blind
